3 fun facts:

- 1 Weirdest places we have ever landed - We've touched down on cliff edges, football pitches (yes, midmatch!), beaches, farmyards, and even roundabouts at rush hour. If there's a space, we'll find a way.
- 2 We might not have blue lights and sirens, but in the sky, our Alpha call sign gives us priority - like an emergency lane up above.
- 3 Our missions are quite evenly split across the week however, our busiest days tend to be Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Impact Report 2025

Every mission we fly begins the same way. A call comes in. A life is potentially in danger. And within minutes, a highly trained crew is on its way to help.

In 2025, Your Local Air Ambulance was there for more than 3,400 people across our region when seconds mattered most. From serious road traffic collisions and medical emergencies to life threatening injuries in remote communities, our teams delivered pre-hospital critical care – essentially bringing the hospital to the scene, giving patients the best possible chance of survival.

But what makes Your Local Air Ambulance truly exceptional is not just how fast we reach people. It is the level of care we bring with us.

Our doctors and paramedics continue to work at the very forefront of pre-hospital emergency medicine, providing advanced treatments that once could only be delivered inside a major trauma centre.

Last year, our crews collaboratively worked on groundbreaking research designed to improve how trauma is diagnosed and treated in the first critical minutes after injury. By supporting studies that analyse early biological markers to the development of artificial intelligence to detect brain injuries, we are helping to shape the future of lifesaving care not just locally, but worldwide.

Behind every statistic is a person. A parent. A child. A friend. A loved one whose life was changed because a helicopter or rapid response vehicle arrived in time with the right crew and equipment.

Your Local Air Ambulance is entirely funded by charitable support. Every mission flown, every innovation developed and every life saved in 2025 was made possible by people who chose to stand with us.

Thank you for being part of that story. Together, we are saving more lives and giving families more precious time with the people they love.
